5. Social Disparities of Selective Villages in Mulashi Tahsil of Pune District in Maharashtra, India

Dr. Rajesh Trambak Birajdar
Assistant Professor, Rayat Shikshan Sanstha's, Mahatma Phule Mahavidlaya, Pimpri, Pune-17.
Mr. Sanjay Savalaram Nangare
Research Scholar, Ramkrishna More ACS College, Akurdi, Pune.

Abstract

Man & Marunje village as part of the rural settlement which can always effect the rural environment of nearby location. Social status of Man & Marunje village is mostly depended on education, their language, culture, Religion and caste. Socio-culture condition makes much effect on living condition, life style, education, health and other all functions in rural area. The religion and caste are important elements for Socio-culture assessments of rural population.

The study carrying bases of primary data including the field survey with help of questioners and also collect the secondary data from local authority in Man & Marunje village. This paper represents the Social Disparities of Man & Marunje village with help of following parameters like, communication, Language status, Culture, Religion Status & Caste status.

Key Wards: - Field Survey, Spatial Analysis, Maps, graphs, Tables and Various statistical techniques.

1. Introduction

Man & Marunje village is small village in Mulshi Tahshil. The comparatively Man village is developed & Marunje Village is less developed. Geographer's role is to understand this stage of cultural development and its relationship with natural environment.

The survey provides the primary data regarding different aspects of life style in man village. Environment has direct impact on village culture. Natural phenomenon directly governs the village setup therefore it is very important to study natural phenomenon along with human beings. The government of India and government of Maharashtra continuously try to develop villages. The 3/4th of the Indian population lives in this habitat. Government introduces many schemes for people's welfare. Urban people have least contact with villagers therefore it is